

Catania Monastere Finish™

Facings of America's Catania Monastere Finish™ was created by our company founder, Dick van Gilse after he found this floor in a small wine shop in the Tuscany region of Italy. Once he saw the floor, he knew he had to find a way to duplicate it for our clients needing an authentic look and feel for their projects. Developing the process to create the floor was a challenge, and once completed, the finished product was very similar to the original floor we found in Italy. Since our original introduction several years ago, companies from around the world have attempted to imitate our stone. However, no one has been able to duplicate the 100 year old authentic look and romantic feel of our floors. The stone is available in several sizes including an upsized 16 piece pattern for custom projects with pieces as large as 24" X 36". In addition, Facings of America is the only company guaranteeing the authenticity of our products with "certificates of authenticity".
