Ceramic tiles featuring subtle translucent glazes and effortlessly flowing surface

Taking a distinct modern, natural design aesthetic to a new medium—ceramics. Partnering with one of the most well-known ceramic tile manufacturers in Valencia, Spain, and leveraging their 120 years of expertise, we developed Nomad, a ceramic tile range that features subtle translucent glazes and effortlessly flowing surfaces. Offered in a modern 3.5" x 12" subway format, the collection balances the demand for larger commercial project tiles with a size appropriate for residential use.

The Nomad collection includes three distinctive textures, each offering a modern interpretation of naturally occurring elements. Undulating surfaces in the Nomad tiles yield subtle tonal effects in the finished glazes, creating natural visual movement. The collection's six glaze colors are designed to seamlessly fit with our other offerings.

“Nomad brings the distinct adventurous aesthetics of our company into the ceramic medium,” said Nigel Eaton. “The versatility of ceramic provides a canvas for a completely unique line of ceramic tiles designed to work flawlessly with our natural stone and glass options.”

Designers can create custom surfaces by blending the classic undulating field tiles with either of two coordinating decorative tiles: Sago, inspired by tropical palm leaves, features raised striations and curved edges that playfully dance across the surface; Ebb & Flow evokes the rolling lines created by waves flowing toward a sandy coastline. Placed together, the two designs create a harmonious surface of soothing
